Bankers Give $1,000 to Museum Fund

Home Demonstrator Employed for County

Six Months' Trial is Ordered Monday by Court

Randall county will employ a Home Demonstration agent for six months, beginning July 1st, according to an order passed by the Commissioners Court Monday afternoon. About thirty-five women and a number of men attended the meeting of the court at which time a large petition was presented by the women of the county, urging that the woman demonstrator be employed. As a trial, it was voted that funds be appropriated for only six months at the present time. The state and federal government will pay one-half of the salary, while the county will pay the other half of $100 per month.

Miss Grubbs, district agent from A. & M. College, was here to be with the women of the county in presenting the question to the commissioners. She pointed out the many phases of the work engaged in by the woman home demonstration agent, and the great savings which had been effected by agents in other counties in helping the women with the canning of meats and vegetables, making cheese, mending and making clothes, conducting community clubs and other phases of home life which is being largely neglected in those counties in which home demonstrators are not employed. Miss Grubbs believes that with a six months trial, during the fall canning season, will convince all of the citizens of Randall county that the work should continue.

Would Require All Farmers to Carry State Insurance

E. F. Arnold of Happy was a business caller in the city Friday. He believes that Texas should pass a law establishing state hail insurance and requiring all farmers to carry this insurance. Mr. Arnold states that the cost would be so small that all farmers would be glad to take the insurance. He states that commercial hail rates are now so high that farmers cannot afford to carry this type of insurance, but that if all farmers in the state were insured, the cost per acre would be very small.

Mr. Arnold states that this is the only kind of insurance he would advocate for the state to carry. No one is responsible for or can control hail, as they can control fire. He points out what Bismarck did for the farmers of Germany as an example of the state doing something worth while for the farmers of Texas.

CYCLONE DAVIS HERE

Cyclone Davis, candidate for congressman-at-large, was in the city yesterday visiting at the C. H. Jarrett home and meeting the voters. He spoke before a large audience at Amarillo Tuesday night, and at Hereford last night.

New Taxes In Effect Next Tuesday

Every citizen of America will start to do his part next Tuesday morning in helping Uncle Sam pay off the debts of this nation.

Don't be surprised when you are confronted next Tuesday morning with the multitude of new taxes. They are going to be applied to so many articles of common useage, that the average citizen will consider for some time at least that every thing he does will be taxed.

The postmaster will charge you 3 cents for every letter now requiring 2 cents.

Deeds, bonds, transfers of stocks, etc., will require stamps.

Telegrams, long distance telephone calls, cables, will be taxed.

The income tax rates are increased.

Taxes will be imposed on toilet articles, furs, jewelry, automobiles, radio sets, mechanical refrigerators, sporting goods, fire arms and ammunition, matches, candy, chewing gum, soft drinks, electrical current, and a lot of other things.

These taxes will continue for the next two years, according to the bill passed by Congress and signed by President Hoover.

This is her first trip to the Plains, and she was enjoying the trip very much. Accompanied by her mother she visited the Palo Duro canyon and was surprised at the wonderful sight. They returned to Iowa by the way of Colorado.

Amarillo Team To Give Skit At Museum Minstrel

An added attraction for a climax number has been secured for the Museum Fund Minstrel, being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce on Friday night, June 17.

A one-act comedy skit, will be presented by Lela Hunter and Gene Vest, Amarillo comedy team under the direction of Mike Hollander, Amarillo show producer.

An agreement was reached Saturday with Mr. Hollander and the entertainers. They are donating their service to the museum fund.

"This act alone will be worth the price of admission," asserted Fred Wortham, in announcing that the Amarillo people would assist in staging the local show. "We have advertised the show as 'A Dollar Show' featuring 'Repression Prices,' but now we'll have to raise the slogan to 'A One Fifty Show,' with 'Repression Prices.' We are indeed fortunate to secure such entertainers as these to appear on the minstrel program."

Hogs Selling at Low Record Price Says Scott Downing

Scott Downing stated Monday that hogs at $2.95 per hundred reached the lowest price in the history of the country. He has been buying stock here for more than 25 years and the lowest price ever reached was that of $2.95 which was recently paid. The highest was $22.95 which he received for two loads of hogs on the Kansas City market in 1919. The average for the years Mr. Downing has been buying hogs would probably be about $10.00 per hundred.

Mr. Downing states that cattle prices are too high, as compared with the price of hogs, and he is wondering when a change will come that will equalize them. Cattle are not too high, but hogs are too low, states Mr. Downing.

FERGUSONS WILL SPEAK IN AMARILLO TONIGHT

STAGE ALL SET FOR C-C MUSEUM FUND MINSTREL

CURTAIN TO BE RAISED AT 8:30 FRIDAY.

Local Talent With Amarillo Team To Make Up Program; Tickets Selling Fast.

The stage is set and everything ready for the curtains to be drawn aside promptly at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow (Friday) night, June 17, for the Museum Fund Minstrel, being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce at the College Auditorium. All details are being rapidly brought together for this show, the preparations for which began only three weeks ago.

"This minstrel promises to eclipse anything of its kind ever held at the College or in Canyon," states Fred E. Wortham, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. "We guarantee a laugh a minute. If you don't want to laugh until your sides ache don't come. If you like things sour and lifeless then stay at home. But if it's real comedy and fun you like you'll be found among those present. You'll never regret seeing it."

Dr. C. A. Pierle is to play the part of the interlocutor. End men of the show are: Dr. Harris M. Cook, Prof. S. H. Condron, Prof. R. A. Terrill, J. B. Fowler, Alfred Jameson, Leroy Landers, J. H. Cox, Jr., and J. W. Shook.

Prof. C. E. Strain is directing the chorus, which is composed principally of college students. Mr. Fowler is in charge of the presentation of the minstrel and Prof. C. W. Batchelder is assisting him.

Prof. Irby Carruth, superintendent of the Canyon Public Schools and who is a member of the college faculty for the summer term, is in charge of the ticket sales. General arrangements are being handled by Mr. Wortham.

Two special features of the program will include numbers by the Women's Physical Education Department under the direction of Mrs. Wallace O'Keefe.

A climax to the evening's entertainment will be a one-act skit by Lela Hunter and Gene Vest, Amarillo comedy team, under the direction of Mike Hollander. This special attraction of professional entertainers has been secured without additional expenses, the actors donating their services to the cause of the museum fund.

This feature has been one of the most widely advertised features in Canyon for many months. A special radio skit was prepared by Prof. R. A. Terrill and given on the Chamber of Commerce hour over

Henry S. Bishop Gives Platform Congress Race

HENRY S. BISHOP

Judge Henry S. Bishop of Amarillo while in the city yesterday stated his platform in his campaign for congresss, the principle points being as follows:

Reducing Government costs by rigid economy, and by consolidating bureaus, commissions, boards, etc., whenever possible; levying only exactly so much taxes as necessary for economical administration of the Government; that the National Government should not take over any powers belonging to the States and confine itself to National and International affairs; to provide for increase in the volume of money, so that the poor and middle classes may have a better chance to pay their debts and survive this depression, by passing the soldiers' bonus bill now before Congress and the remonitization of silver; the suppression of the racketeers and other organized forms of crime which cost the people of the United States over 13 billion dollars last year, directly and indirectly; abolishing the Farm Board which has only embarrassed instead of helping the farmer, and cost the farmers millions of dollars in losses on wheat crops and the Government in storage on wheat the Board has held.

Help Keep Canyon Clean!

A donation Tuesday morning by the Panhandle Bankers' Association brought the total building fund for the Museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society almost up to the required $25,000. A few hundred dollars more, and the fund will have been subscribed, reported L. F. Sheffy yesterday.

However, only about half of the fund has been paid in cash. Cash in the bank is absolutely necessary by the first of July, states Mr. Sheffy in order that the contract for the building may be let with assurance that the building will be completed in accordance with the terms of the appropriation which was made by the legislature last year. The money must be in the bank before the State Board of Control will authorize steps toward the actual construction of the building, is the message sent by Claude Teer, chairman of the Board of Control.

The donation by the Panhandle bankers came at a time when a large donation was absolutely necessary to push the fund up to the required amount, stated Mr. Sheffy, who has been devoting most of his time the past few months to the raising of this fund. The bankers heard the appeal of T. D. Hobart and Judge H. E. Hoover, members of the executive committee of the Society, and unanimously voted to give the $1,000.

The building committee for the Museum was in session in Pampa at the time the donation was made. Authority was given Carter and Rittenberry, architects, to proceed with the plans, and to complete them at the earliest time possible, so that a contract may be let. It is planned to have the building completed, and all of the historical material moved to the new building before the time of the annual meeting to be held next spring.

Subscriptions will continue to be sought for the Museum, stated Mr. Sheffy, as it will be necessary to raise at least $5,000 for furniture and fixtures to equip the new building. Several schools on the plains will enter into a money raising campaign this fall with a view of making donations of show cases for the Museum, in order to properly display the thousands of articles which have been donated to the Museum. People of Canyon who have not found it convenient to make donations for the building will now be given an opportunity to contribute to the furniture and fixture fund for the museum.

Mr. Sheffy states that from now until July first every possible effort will be made to collect the subscriptions which have been made to the museum fund. The $25,000 fund will not be completed until the money is in the bank, and it will take all of the subscriptions which have been promised in the past to put the $25,000 fund over. Those who have not paid their subscriptions are urged to see Mr. Sheffy at once.

SAYS WHEAT IS FINE

W. W. Kuehn was in the city Monday and states that his wheat is fine, and about ready to cut. Mr. Kuehn states that wheat in his section of the county is very good, as compared with the balance of the county. The price for wheat is now only 22 cents, and may be lower as harvest gets under way, states Mr. Kuehn.

In these days
When some thoughtless people
Have but little regard for
Their land,

The national conventions of both the Republican and Democratic parties will be held in Chicago. The coming two weeks will see interesting developments in national politics, with leaders selected by both parties to lead in the November elections. There is no question about the re-nomination of President Hoover by the Republicans. Practically no opposition will be found against him, and the only squabble will be over the platform. Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt will go to the Democratic convention with a lead of instructed votes, but not two thirds. He will likely not have the votes of his own state, as Tammany Hall is opposed to him, fearing that he will remove Mayor Jimmy Walker, who has been the subject of an interesting investigation, which reveals the evil doing of Walker, recognized Tammany chief. Roosevelt will not act upon the recommendation that Walker be removed until after the national convention. However, that will probably have no effect upon the action of Tammany, whose organization has declared war upon Roosevelt. The Democratic convention will furnish the only show this year, but there will be plenty of fire-works during the fall in preparation for the November election.

The liquor question of the election tickets this year will disturb the voters' minds more than anything else could do. All economic questions will be forgotten. Means and measures will be pushed aside, and the entire interest of the campaign will be around this problem. If liquor should return, it would not return prosperity, but would add to the suffering and pains of millions of women and children. If liquor is returned, it will not do away with crime, greed and graft, but will add to these crimes. The antis are charging prohibition with all of the ills of the day, and therefore the strong appeal of the present time. The News is always for a majority rule on every public question, and has realized for sometime that another vote must be taken on the prohibition question, but believes it ill-advised at this time when so many more important questions confront our nation.

The Texas Railroads are issuing through a series of advertisements published in the newspapers of the state an appeal to the public for an understanding of their business, and the perils which are confronting the railroads at this time. The railroads must be saved, regardless of the steps necessary to be taken. Supposing that it would become necessary for the federal government to buy the railroads in order to save them; consider what the loss of taxes would mean to every city, every school district, every county and every state in the union. In addition service would be reduced, as it was during the war when the government operated the railroads. By all means, the railroads must be saved to the owners, who are millions of Americans who own the stock, and continue to be operated by those now in charge.

No stamps will be sold to attach to checks given beginning June 21st, when the government will collect 2 cents for each check written in this nation. The bank upon which the check is drawn is responsible for the collection of the two cents which they must send to the government. The banks are liable to a penalty if they fail to collect this amount on all checks cleared. This is also true of the tax on theatre tickets and other taxes which will be collected starting with next Tuesday. When confronted with these new tax measures, there is nothing to do but smile and pay the bill. We are now paying for the expensive spree enjoyed during and following the world war when everyone thought he was getting rich. When you pay your tax bills, just remember that war does not pay.

Women attending the Cooking School voted unanimously Friday to continue the School next year, and expressed great appreciation of those who sponsored the School this year. Without doubt the School performed a great service to the hundreds of women who attended the school, as economy in the home was ever the prevailing note in the lectures and the demonstrations. All who participated in the School expressed the greatest delight in the results of the week's work.

Probably the most needed thing in Canyon as regards the food supply of the town is a milk ordinance. Most of the milk ordinances which have been proposed in the past have been so complex and the enforcement so expensive that the city commission has not undertaken their passage. Perhaps a more simple ordinance would be effective. However, the need exists, and if one may be devised which could be effective, the citizens would greatly appreciate it.

W. K. Hopkins, 33-year-old Senator whose name was filed by friends as a candidate for Governor, has withdrawn from the race, and will not face the Sterling-Ferguson combination scrap. Hopkins is an able debater and a brilliant young man as demonstrated by his services in both the House and the Senate of the Texas legislature, but Texas has had one boy governor, and will not likely elect another soon.

The force had a great time last week publishing a daily newspaper. As a matter of fact, the first ten days of this month, a daily newspaper was printed by the News force, including issues of this paper and the other regular weekly publications. The News has the equipment and the force capable of producing a daily newspaper whenever Canyon is large enough to regularly support such a publication.

The decision of the Supreme Court in sustaining the Small land bill means millions of dollars to Panhandle land owners. West Texas, headed by Senator Small, made a fight in the legislature and won for the land owners. It was a question of right and wrong, and again right prevailed.

CANYON CITY CLUB NEWS

Clovis 9 3-4 joints; Canyon 4 1-4 points.

Putt, putt, putt, putt, putt, putt.

The Clubs' golf team that visited Clovis for Sunday's League match, acted like an old Model T Ford sounds in a rain. Three and four putted greens were the rule, not an exception.

Some of the boys took more than half their total strokes in putts. "Cotton seed huls for top dressing on greens would make good cow feed," is the opinion of the players from here.

W. E. Lockhart says he thinks he would like the Clovis greens very well when he got used to them. Mr. Lockhart stroked a 76 for the eighteen holes; putted like Walter Hagen; made a hole in one and otherwise demonstrated the game of golf as it should be played. His hole in one came on No. 9, a distance of 165 yards and played with a five iron. He says he thinks he will take up golf seriously, now.

Mickle, Donnell, Prichard, Neff, Shotwell and Davault, won for Canyon; Gamewell, Foster, Reeves, Craig, Hartman, Duflot, Bryant, Savage, Brown, Oldham, Terry, Kleinschmidt and Gano, lost. Sanders, Lockhart, Davis and Knighton played for qualifying scores.

Tulia will be here next Sunday with all their sharp shooters on hand. Tulia is leading the League with three games won and one lost, losing to Clovis on cotton seed hulls.

Sunday's match will be played over the front nine, as the back nine was so badly damaged by the recent rains that it cannot be repaired in time to accomodate Tulia.

Questions and Answers about Conoco Germ Processed Oil

Q: WHAT DOES "GERM PROCESS" MEAN?

A: The words "Germ Process" describe the scientific method by which this oil is manufactured. Such processing adds immeasurably to the oil's lubricating properties. North American patent rights to this Process are owned by Continental—only CONOCO oils are Germ Processed!

Q: IS IT DIFFERENT FROM OTHER OILS?

A: Yes. It is the only oil of its kind, and does what no other oil can do. The Germ Process gives it the ability to penetrate and combine with metal surfaces in your motor. The Germ Process also gives more "oiliness" than any other oil. Any oil would be better oil if Germ Processed.

Q: WHAT IS THE "HIDDEN QUART?"

A: The "Hidden Quart" is tangible evidence that CONOCO Germ Processed Oil penetrates metal surfaces and gives surer, safer lubrication. During the first 250 to 350 miles after your first fill with Germ Processed Oil, a pint to a quart seemingly disappears. On later fills, it does not. That's the Hidden Quart—it stays up in your motor and never drains away! Other oils drain away when your car is idle, leaving vital parts unlubricated during the starting period, when almost half of all motor wear occurs. CONOCO'S Hidden Quart lubricates before your motor starts—cutting down costly starting wear!

Q: WHY SHOULD I CHANGE TO CONOCO GERM PROCESSED MOTOR OIL?

A: Because, by cutting down starting wear, it gives your motor longer life, keeps it sweet-running and saves expensive repair bills. Because Germ Processed Oil's extra oiliness makes your car run better. It forms a stronger piston-ring seal, making starting easier and giving more power. It withstands crankcase dilution and high temperatures. CONOCO Germ Processed Motor Oil gives you the safest, surest lubrication you can buy. Change now to this better oil at any CONOCO Red Triangle station.

New Tax Bill Will Cost Average Family About $50 During Next Year

IF yours is an average family, the new $1,115,000,000 tax bill passed by Congress is going to cost you somewhere between $10 and $100 next year. In all probability, the amount you will contribute in that time toward balancing the national treasury deficit will hover around the $50 mark.

Assuming that you earn $40 weekly, are married, and have an automobile, your taxes, under the new bill, would run something like this:

Sporting goods	$3.60
Soft drinks	2.50
Amusements	2.00
Telephone	1.80
Wort, malt syrup and grape concentrates	8.00
Cosmetics	4.25
Jewelry	4.25
Matches	.20
Tires, tubes, oil, accessories	7.00
Gasoline	7.80
Electricity	1.50
Checks	2.00
Total for year	$44.90

Say you are a once-a-week golfer. If you buy two $5 clubs a year, and lose—to be optimistic—one 50c ball each round, your tax on sporting goods would be $3.60.

Soft drinks are taxed under 1921 rates, and in 1921 the average per capita tax on this item was $2.50.

Your wife would, perhaps, make a monthly long distance call to a close relative. Let us say the regular charge is $1.25. The new tax of 15c on each of the 12 calls means $1.80 a year.

• • •

SHOULD you happen to be a member of the great army of home-brewers, your tax would depend, of course, upon the amount of brew you make. Estimates reveal that $8 per year is about the tax the average home-brewer will lay out on malt, wort and grape concentrates.

If your wife has a fondness for powders and creams that most women have she spends $42.50 a year, statistics show, on lipsticks, rouge, cleansing cream, skin food, etc. With the new 10 per cent tax on cosmetics, Friend Hubby's wallet will be nicked for $4.25

Here are some of the items on which Americans will be taxed to provide the billion odd dollars in revenue needed to balance the United States budget.

The same figure, oddly, represents the average yearly expenditure for jewelry by women in moderate circumstances, a New York survey shows. Another $4.25, therefore, to appease feminine vanity.

There's one consolation in the new bill, however. It's almost impossible to use up enough matches to put a sizable crimp in the family exchequer. The new tax on this item, based on reasonable usage, for instance, would be only about 20c.

On the other hand, your automobile will cost you plenty. Seven dollars, the figures show, would be the average tax on accessories, oil, tubes and tires, and $7.80 on your gasoline.

In a general sum-up, by June 20, 1933, one year from the date these taxes went into effect, you will have paid $44.90 as your share toward the billion-dollar revenue bill intended to close the great gap in our treasury

Panhandle-Plains Historical Society Gets Old Letters

A collection of unpublished letters written between 1833 and 1844, from men who were at Fort Smith, Arkansas and at Houston, Texas, has come into the possession of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society from Pies Harper, a life member of the Society who lives at Tuscon, Arizona.

These letters were written by G. G. Hardcastle and Jones Bigelow to Otis Arnold, who was first addressed at Troy, New York, then Louisville, Kentucky, and later at Nashville, Tennessee.

Hardcastle was living in or near Houston in 1840 and he wrote: "I shall not attempt to locate any more (land) until a change takes place in the trade and currency of our country. . . . Unlocated claims are valued as follows: 320 acres for $15.00; 640 acres, $25.00; 1280 acres for $35.00."

The difficulties presented by distances are shown when he writes, "I have not yet visited the land office to ascertain whether your claims are all good or not, as Austin is some 110 miles from Houston, but I calculate on going up during the summer."

Hardcastle Knew Houston When . .

An April 8, 1840, writing to Arnold, who was then at Nashville, Tennessee, Hardcastle tells something of the political situation. Like others of his time his interest and his convictions were intense. He says:

"Our electioneering campaign for president is now coming on and a little more life prevails in consequence. From every indication I believe the people will re-elect General Sam Houston. 'Tis to be lamented that our country should elect such a drunken sot for the important station when a sober and a better man can be had; but such I fear will be the case should he live, but his health is bad in consequence of dissipation. Coming from Austin some five weeks since, he fell into the Colorado and was near being drowned, and 'tis said the fish about Bastrop has been drunk ever since. He also but a few days since fell into the bayou near here and narrowly escaped. Such is the man that the grog shops delight to honor. Judge Burnet is favorably spoken of and will be strongly supported."

Hardcastle hoped that the capitol of Texas might be located on or close to his land, for he wrote, "I have recently purchased the finest farm in Texas—that is agreeable to my notion—400 acres, beautifully situated, commanding a most splendid and extensive view of the country around. Not alone a farm, but a business stand, and soon I expect to have, if life and health permits, a church with a steeple on it, a blacksmith shop, school house, a house for entertainment, situated at a cross roads, and perhaps within a year or so the government will select it as a place for the Capitol of Texas. Always look ahead, fish like to swim upstream!"

Evidently, Mr. Hardcastle's hopes were not realized, for July 1844, found him writing from Nashville. "I could not succeed in doing what I wished. Taking in consideration . . . the depressed prices of lands, it looked like throwing away good money for bad. I for some reason, let my lands lapse without any effort to secure a deed, looking upon all things as useless."

Even then Texas was looking to annexation to the United States, for further on he writes "Time may work a change. Now an excitement rages for annexation; if any good can arrive from the excitement, these certificates will be as good as ever."

Although he wrote from Tennessee, Hardcastle still cast longing eyes toward Texas with its fertile lands. While waiting for better conditions there he occupied himself in the mercantile business, of which he wrote, "My mother and myself are engaged in the Boat Store Commission and general agency business opposite the S. B. (steamboat) landing. We commenced in October last and have so far done a very fair business."

Hardcastle intended to return to Texas that fall, to secure land for himself, as he was still holding the land grants which has been paid him in lieu of money for services during the war for Texas Independence.

Whether he was successful is not shown in this series of letters, but it is probable that he joined the great movement of young men from Tennessee who became leaders in Texas.

Jonas Bigelow, the other pioneer was evidently a merchant in the East, but misfortune had come and he was attempting to recoup his finances in the west in order to pay his debts and carve out a successful life for himself.

In August, 1833, he wrote a long letter in which he told of a trading expedition up the Arkansas river, where he traded merchandise of various kinds for "furs and bear skins." He fell in with an attractive young man of whose honesty he was convinced. Later this partner disappeared, and the profits of the enterprise with him.

Bigelow was not to be dismayed. He decided to go farther up the Arkansas river and get out cedar rafts. He secured horses, and provisions and hired men. During the winter enough cedar was cut to make three large rafts that "would have sold in New Orleans at 1200 dollars each." The expected rise of the river which was to carry the rafts to market failed to come.

Time went on, and provisions were nearly gone, for he wrote, "We had nothing but venison and bear meat for a long time and we began to want bread." So he left his men and went to the settlement to get provisions. While he was gone the rise came, the rafts were floated free with none to see to them and another small fortune was lost.

A little later Bigelow began trading again, and sold supplies to the United States government. Trading in furs was highly profitable, southern beaver and otter being bought at from three to four dollars per pound.

Although Bigelow apparently never penetrated the high plains of West Texas, he did go into the prairie country to hunt buffalo, which he considered good sport.

The great beasts were plentiful hunters were few and frequently they killed the bison for the tongues alone. These were considered a great delicacy.

It is hoped that more letters from these two virile adventurers may come to light to complete the story of which these tell only a small part. It is not improbable that relatives of the two men are now living in Texas, and perhaps some of them have preserved other portions of the record which now lies among the documents of the Panhandle Plains Historical Society.

Museum Visitors Led By Colorful "Bones" Hooks

Matthew (Bones) Hooks of Amarillo brought thirty of his colored friends to Canyon June 9 to visit the museum of the Panhandle-Plains Historical Society. The visitors were members of the Mount Zion B. Y. P. U., several teachers, and the remainder school children.

L. F. Sheffy, secretary of the Society, conducted the visitors thru the museum. He states that much interest was manifested in the things they saw, about which they had previously learned much thru lectures given them by "Bones."

"Bones" is probably the most widely known negro in the Southwest. He was for many years a cowboy when the Panhandle was a virgin country and virtually alive with adventures. Out of one of these he secured his cognomen, "Bones." The name has stuck and even though he is now dignified by curly gray hair, it seems to fit.

IN THE WORLD OF SPORTS

BY PHILIP MARTIN

CONNIE MACK has often been called "an old fox." But no one deed of his career, perhaps, did as much to earn him the title as when, seven years ago, he selected and began training a Foxx. And, of course, we mean Jimmy Foxx.

This lad with the stuttering name has been making good ever since the A's got him—a cornfed lad of 17—in 1925. And this year he has been going c-u-rrazy.

Not only has he been playing heads-up ball at first, or third, or wherever they cared to place him, but his clubwork has been a constant headache to opposing pitchers. In the first two months of the 1932 season, Foxx led the American League in the matter of homers, lacing out more circuit clouts than Babe Ruth—no mean feat. In addition, he made the most hits and batted in the most runs of anyone in the American, for this period.

And Jimmy's hitting is not of the spasmodic variety. He's been pounding 'em out regularly almost since he started in the majors. In fact, it was this ability that persuaded Connie to keep him in the lineup, although it meant benching a better fielder.

Jimmy was a typical yokel, with carpetbag, high button shoes and everything when he first showed up in the Athletics' ballyard after Frank (Home Run) Baker, famed third baseman of the old Athletics, recommended him to Connie Mack.

"The boy can pitch, catch, play outfield or infield, hit, punt, tackle, knit, sew, cook and milk," was Baker's enthusiastic description of Foxx's capabilities.

"But what can he do best," said Connie.

"Catch," answered Baker.

But Jimmy was not destined to become a catcher. Cy Perkins and Mickey Cochrane, among the best in their line, were ahead of him. So Mack farmed the boy out for experience, and then brought him back, in 1926.

Subbing at third for the ailing Jimmy Dykes, he handled the job okeh, his hitting being partly responsible for the A's winning 10 games in a row. Then Dykes returned and the youngster replaced Ossie Orwoll on first. Again he did a good job; again he kept the infield dodging his screeching liners.

And then, several years ago, came a shift that set the baseball world agog—when Mack displaced Jimmy Dykes with Jimmy Foxx. Mack's astuteness in this move became evident when, immediately, a winning streak started that brought the A's neck to neck with the Yanks in the pennant struggle. When Dykes was returned to his old position, Jimmy Foxx was transferred to the keystone sack, which he has covered most of the time since.

• • •

JIMMY is not only a great athlete. He is a distinct credit to the game he has made his profession. The white lights have no lure for him. His winters and any other time he is away from the playing field are spent on his large Maryland farm with his wife and children.

And, judging from his youth and from what he has accomplished so far in the big leagues, Jimmy bids fair to become one of the great ballplayers of all time.

Never before

THE new Case Model "CC," which we are now showing, is not just another general purpose tractor. It is something entirely new—in fact, it is the only standard tread plowing tractor whose rear wheels can be easily and quickly set out to fit any width of rows for planting and cultivating, from an 18 and 22-inch combination up to 48 inches and wider. It can be used either as a 3 or 4 wheel plowing tractor.

If there is a tractor easier to handle and care for, we haven't seen it.

—independent differential brakes aid in quick handling between the rows and in pivoting on either rear wheel when turning short.

You must see this tractor to appreciate how new and unusual it really is. There is nothing like it anywhere. Come in and look it over.

THE PEOPLE OF TEXAS MUST DECIDE THE FATE OF TEXAS RAILROADS

● THE WELFARE of Texas and Texans has gone and will always go hand in hand with the welfare of Texas railroads. Their dependency upon each other is absolute.

In 1929 Texas railroads gave employment to 82,956 employes, to whom they paid annually $126,674,543 in salaries and wages. In 1930 this number decreased to 70,739 while the payroll declined to $109,892,226. In 1931 the number of employes fell to 57,098 and the payroll to $89,505,918.

This represents a decrease of more than $37,000,000 in purchasing power in Texas communities. There has been a corresponding decrease in purchase of materials and supplies by Texas railroads. The ability to have maintained railroad payrolls and purchases would have been a very important factor in overcoming the present trying economic condition.

The decline in railroad payrolls and purchases is due only in part to economic conditions. The revenues of the railroads have been affected not only by business conditions but to a very large extent by loss of traffic to trucks and buses using the public highways in competition with the railroads.

● The time has come when the people of Texas must decide whether the traffic of this state can best be carried by the railroads, using facilities which they built and maintain at their own expense, or by trucks and buses using the highways built and maintained at the taxpayers' expense.

Duflot Pronounces Golf Course Fit For Summer Play

According to J. L. Duflot, the College Golf Course is in better shape this summer than ever before.

New sand and cups have been put on the greens and excellent care has been given both greens and fairways in order that they may equal the standards set by the best of college courses.

Much interest has already been manifested, indicating the ever-growing popularity of the game among W. T.'s sport loving enthusiasts. Not only expert golfers but also timid beginners are being seen on the links each day, scores ranging from 35 to 95.

The course is under the supervision of Professor J. L. Duflot, assisted by Edwin Comer, Glenn Daugherty, and Gene Lovelace, students.

A green fee of $3.00 is being charged those not holding blanket taxes for golfing privileges for the summer quarter, or a charge of one quarter for a single entrance. Students are admitted on blanket taxes where clubs may be rented for twenty-five cents.

Wash Materials Popular This Summer

SEASON'S STYLES FEATURE COTTONS AND LINENS FOR SPORTS WEAR, ORGANDY FOR INDOOR EVENING AFFAIRS

BY HARRIET

THE summer mood is going to be a merry one in spite of the fact that not so many coins are jingling together in the new pocketbooks that are blossoming out in all sorts of colors. Wash materials are ruling the day

When you are buying the new frocks that are supposed to brighten the corner where you spend most of your time, try a checkered fashion career for one gown. Or let criss-cross stripes tell the story in a plaid fashion. Or wear stripes and make sure that you are in bondage to the new vogue. Then, too, there are all sorts of prints which are equally popular.

Cottons, linens, and other wash materials are doing duty for active sports wear, spectator sports, and informal gatherings. Solid colors are always good. Make sure, though, that you choose gay, light shades for summer

Even evening dresses this summer are the type that can go into the tub Some of them are made from organdy which is flowered in the manner of sprigs from an old garden Some choose flowers that are larger and more audacious Stipes and plaids do their stunt in other wash evening dresses. The stripes may remind you, sometimes, of old-fashioned sticks of peppermint candy, which really gives a party touch to your costume.

Wash evening dresses are inexpensive, a fact that is decidedly in their favor Then, too, you will be able to have several of them.

If you want to be sure that you are going around the course in the best form, there is a cord-weave cotton frock, in a red and white stripe, which will give you all the confidence you need. Some of its stripes go up and down and others follow a diagonal pattern. The sleeves come to a point just above the elbow, and there is an inverted pleat right down the center of the skirt, which allows freedom of movement when you tee off. The dress has a mannish jacket of "west-kit" cut. A little blouse of white cotton broadcloth is worn with the frock. Golf gloves with lisle mesh tops will help you keep cool while on the links.

Cottons are not only appearing on the fashion surface but they are getting under the style, too. Top coats find them serviceable and cool when used as linings. One coat chooses the classic coin dot for its lining, and has a scarf of the same material at the throat.

A beige coat, or one in a shade of brown or tan, would find white dots against a brown background, effective. A blue coat could use the blue and white motif. Or if you want a contrasting color for your lining, it is yours for the taking.

Buff Grid Season To Be Ushered in By Simmons Game

The 1932 football season will be ushered in at Canyon on the night of September 23, when the hard-riding Cowboys from Simmons University come to Canyon in an attempt to rope and ride the West Texas State Teachers College Buffaloes.

These teams did not meet on the gridiron last fall, but have met annually, with last year's exception for several years. The Buffs have emerged the victors in only two of the past contests and can hardly be rated other than the underdogs

When Coach Sam Burton came to Canyon in the fall of 1921 the Buffs had not attracted much attention on the gridiron. But, in the four years that Burton coached football, his teams turned Simmons back for the only two defeats that the Buffaloes have administered to the Cowhands.

After a period of six years, during which time the Big Coach devoted his time to basketball and track as well as the administrative duties of his office, he again assumed command of the gridiron forces, and last season the Buffs enjoyed the best season in their football history, and fans are freely predicting a greater season for 1932.

With Simmons University playing the opening bill, the season is sure to get away to a flying start and should the Herd be able to trample the boys of Coach Lee Cranfill the Buffs will be hard for anyone to stop.

Mr. MacDonald (arranging with clergymen for his second marriage): "And I should like the ceremony in my yard this time, sir."

Clergyman: "Good gracious, why?"

MacDonald: "Then the fowls can pick up the rice—we wasted a great deal last time."

Burton Announces Prospective Battle With Okla. City U.

Coach Sad Sam Burton, athletic director at the West Texas State Teachers College, announces that terms have almost been agreed upon, whereby the West Texas Buffalo Gridders will meet the Oklahoma City University Goldbugs in a football game at Oklahoma City, November 18.

"Only minor details remain to be agreed upon," said the big coach. "This will be the biggest game ever played by a Buffalo team," continued the Buff Mentor.

Oklahoma City was one of the undefeated teams of the nation two years ago and was considered as one of the teams eligible for the tournament of the Roses. Last season they suffered only one defeat and that at the hands of the Tulsa University Golden Hurricanes. Both the University of Oklahoma and the Oklahoma A. & M. fell before the powerful running attack of the Oklahoma City University squad.

"We have a few good men who will be playing their last year for the Buffaloes and we feel like it is justly due them to have an opportunity to measure their ability along side that of one of the game's greatest teams," said Coach Burton, "and you know a team never gets any recognition until they lick one of the great elevens, and the only way to beat them is to play them. No, I'm not predicting a victory," said Sad Sam, when asked if he expected to win, "but we are going to play to win."

Runs in Family

"I understand your wife is quite ill."

"Yes, she had a slight cold; tried to cure herself by reading a daily health hint and is suffering from a typographical error."

Mrs. Sue Donald Wins Faculty Honor of Hundred Dollars

At the chapel exercises Saturday, Mrs. Sue Donald was awarded the Faculty Scholarship of one hundred dollars.

The award is based on grades made during the three quarters of the long session. However, only those with sophomore or above standing are eligible. For the past three years this ruling has affected freshman classes with particular emphasis since freshmen have in those years made the highest grades. Miss Constance Wayland, freshman from Plainview, holds the honor this year of having the highest marks in the college. Her record shows seventeen "A's."

Mrs. Donald had thirteen "A's" and two "B's" for the highest upper classman record. She is a Junior and works three hours a day in the office of the Dean of Men and Dean of Women.

He's the Tallest Horse in America

C. J. Lewis, above, of Tacoma, Wash., is often told to get off his "high horse." And with reason, for Timberline, shown behind Lewis, is the tallest horse in America. Timberline is 22 hands—or 88 inches—high. He is a combination of Clydesdale and Hamiltonian, and is only five years old.

WDAG in Amarillo, Tuesday night, from 8:30 to 9:00 o'clock. Also a special presentation was made in chapel at the college Tuesday morning.

Tickets are now on sale at the following places: The College Book Store, The College Oasis, The Buffalo, The City Pharmacy, Walker Drug Store, Jarrett Drug Store, The News Office, and the Chamber of Commerce office. Admission price, including reserved seat, 50 cents; general admission 35 cents. All seats in front of the balcony are reserved. Those under and in the balcony will be general admission seats.

"It looks like a sell-out," declared Mr. Wortham last night. "The response has been unusually good, and the Chamber of Commerce is indeed grateful for the splendid support and cooperation received in this show."

Reserved tickets not sold by noon Friday will be removed from the places where they are offered for sale. Doors will open at 7:45; the show will begin promptly at 8:30.

WHERE THE BONUS WENT.

First Sailor: "What did you do with your bonus?"

Second Hard Worker: "Well, I spent a hundred shooting crap, fifty in a poker game, fifty on likker, twenty-five on taxi fare, and seventy-five on a girl."

First: "But that only makes three hundred. What did you do with the other two hundred?"

Second: "Oh, I don't know. I must have spent that foolishly."

Husband: "We've had this car for years and never had a wreck."

Wife: "You mean we've had this wreck for years and never had a car."

CITY MANAGER PLAN NOW IN 450 CITIES

Revelations of municipal bungling or worse, in New York City have brought to the front again the idea of professional city management for even the largest metropolitan centers.

One of the most influential women's publications in New York has come out in favor of supplanting Mayor Walker with a professional manager. "City management is peculiarly a product of the American genius," it urges. "It ought to be adopted everywhere. New York is the greatest metropolis in the world and one of the most notorious seats of municipal graft. If by any miracle of public demand a professional manager could be put into action here, it would be a tremendous advance in good government."

At the latest count available there were more than 450 cities run by managers. Most of these are in the United States, some in Canada, and a few, interestingly enough, in the Irish Free State. Thirteen other places have tried the plan and discarded it—usually because the politicians were too clever for the forces of reform.

Among the large cities using the manager-council form of government, are Cincinnati, Dayton, Kansas City, Grand Rapids, Rochester, Fort Worth, Oklahoma City, Miami, Sacramento, Dallas, Oakland—and Dublin, Ireland.

Fond Mother: "I hope my little darling has been as good as gold all day."

Nurse: "No, ma'am, he went off the gold standard about tea-time."

ONE SOLOMON MISSED.

"I like our new apartment, but the neighbors can hear everything we say."

"Well, why don't you hang a heavy tapestry on the walls?"

"But then we couldn't hear what the neighbors say."—Tit-Bits.

COMPARE YOUR CHILD'S GROWTH

By Dr. Morris Fishbein.

A statement just made available by Dr. William Palmer Lucas indicates the weight and state of development of children at various ages so that parents may have some idea as to whether or not the child is gaining properly.

The report published by one of the largest insurance companies, as a part of its public health educational service, gives the following figures:

At One Year

Height—Boys, 29.5 inches; girls, 29 inches.

Teeth—Should have six cut.

Muscles—Growing rapidly.

Speech—A few words.

At Two Years

Weight—Boys, 28.4 pounds; girls, 27.8 pounds.

Height—Boys, 33.1 inches; girls, 32.7 inches.

Teeth—Should have 16 cut.

Muscles—Growing rapidly.

Speech—Vocabulary of 100 to 500 words; 2-word sentences.

At Three Years

Height—Boys, 36 inches; girls, 35.6 inches (gain of about three inches over previous year).

Speech—500 to 1500 new words; begins to use pronouns.

At Four Years

Height—Boys, 38.6 inches; girls, 38.4 inches.

Teeth—Full set of 20 milk teeth.

Muscles—Growing rapidly with increasing co-ordination.

Speech—500 new words and makes complete sentences.

At Five Years

Height—Boys, 41.7 inches; girls, 41.3 inches.

Teeth—Twenty teeth.

Muscles—Same as third year.

Speech—The articulation is now nearly perfect, and an interest in rhyming is developed.

At Six Years.

Height—Boys, 44 inches; girls, 43.4 inches.

Teeth—the child should have 24 teeth, four of which are permanent—especially important to preserve sixth year molars.

Muscles—Rapidly growing; increasing correlation.

Child is interested in nonsense words and likes to draw his ideas. Speech defects are recognized before six years; 80 per cent of stuttering occurs before six years.

Of course it should be remembered that all children are not normally the same size.

The size and weight of parents should be taken into consideration in every case.

May Be Ruler Of Germany

Political experts of Europe predict that when the German general elections are held July 31 the "House of Hohenzollerns," headed by the former crown prince of Germany, Frederick Wilhelm, shown above, will gain control of the German Reich. It is believed that this will be the first step toward the switch back to the rule of the Hohenzollerns and that the crown prince will eventually succeed Von Hindenburg as head of Germany.

Have you heard the story of the little boy who went to school for the first time. When he returned home his father inquired how he liked it.

"It's all right, but they ask too many questions," said the lad. "First they asked me where you were born and I told them. Then they asked me where mother was born and I told them. When they asked me where I was born I had to tell a lie."

"Why," saked the father.

"I didn't want to say I was born in the Woman's Hospital and have them think I was a sissy, so I told them it was in the Yankee Stadium."

DEAD-GAME SPORT

"What'rya doin' tonight?" asked one. "How about takin' in a movie?" It'll take our minds off the depression."

"That's okay, too," was the amazing reply. "I'll jump off with you."—New York Morning Telegraph.

"And has she made him a good wife?"

"I don't know about that—but she's certainly making him a good husband."

THIS MOTOR AGE.

When the automobile was invented, nobody foresaw the transformation it would make in the national environment.
